In an evolving effort to support the needs of our customers, Northline Industrial has invested engineering time and money to acquire the hardware and software to support a system test of the Siemens SIMODRIVE POSMO A. This motor-drive combo is comprised of an integrated converter, positioning control, servo motor, optional gearing, and a high speed PROFIBUS DP interface connection. Northline now supports repair and test of these units. Turn to Northline to support your new and legacy automation equipment.
